Converted out of the original stables with the hay loft above, this aspect of the yard featured many practical elements such as trap door directly above the hay racks where the hay could just be lowered in for the horses and mucking out door at low level directly into the yard where the midden was located.

As you enter the beautiful cottage the whole ground floor is open plan with large kitchen and dining areas together with seating around the feature log burner and granite fireplace. A central staircase leads upstairs to two double bedrooms and a Master bedroom with ensuite shower room and family bathroom.
